Grant Seekers celebrated its short move from Wolf Road in Mokena to its new location at 11104 Front Street unit 2E, Mokena on April 9 with an open house. As Grant Seekers continues to grow and expand so does the amount of space they require and they are happy with their new digs, said president and creator of Grant Seekers Tammy "TC" Leonard.

Pam Cohn, Tammy Leonard, president of Grant Seekers, and Vickie Beiniek, of Andrew Strikes out Cancer.

Grant Seekers provides fundraising development and consulting services for not-for-profit agencies and organizations and also help individuals trying to start foundations secure the funds that they need.

Many of the clients of Grant Seekers were at the open house to show their support for Grant Seekers. The Group was also treated to drinks and a free buffet table.

Vickie Beiniek is working on a large fundraiser called "Andrew Strikes Out Cancer" to be held on June 7 of this year and solicited the services of Grant Seekers. Beiniek said that she was planning a little party for her son Andrew as he celebrated his fifth year since his cancer went into remission, but Leonard convinced her to go non-profit and took care everything.

"She is a huge help and I couldn't have done it without her," said Beiniek. "She took care of all the paper work and government dealings that the rest of us can't understand."

She came to the open house to show her support and gratitude and said, "it is just nice to know that there are people out there who want to help you out."

Grant Seekers helps other organizations reach their goals by being as passionate about helping others as the charities that they help. Grant Seekers proclaims, "Our mission is to help fulfill yours."
